Tonight, as Leo's seizure was ending, Tom asked us to have the conversation about getting his eeg done. I asked him to speak to me nicely.

He seemed to get very upset to me so I said let's defer it to later. He got more and more upset, though he had been doing evening routine and bedtime w/ Anna and unilaterally told me to take care of bedtime for Anna. He also said unless I did what he said, that there wouldn't be any EEGs. I thought that wasn't his decision to make; but I didn't say anything.

After I gave in, I asked him to keep an eye on Leo since I wouldnt be in the room, and Leo was still not acting himself.

Instead of helping w/ leo, Tom followed me around as I tried to do Anna's evening routine of brushing teeth etc. I tried to keep an eye on him myself finally Anna asked Tom to do bedtime w/ her and I said OK, and I stayed with Leo.
